IT'S A NEW YEAR... MAKE FIRE PROTECTION A PRIORITY

It is a new year and a time of year when many of us reflect on where we have been and where we are headed in the year ahead. Put fire protection on the top of your New Years resolution list this year.

- According to the National Fire Protection Association, cooking is the number one reported source of fire in the home, however, heating equipment is the leading cause during winter months. Look around your home for fire hazards to ensure you are protected.
 - To reduce cooking fires make sure you clean your stovetop regularly, to prevent grease from catching fire. Keep a fire extinguisher in the kitchen and keep flammable objects, including dishtowels and potholders, away from the stove.
 - Have you changed the batteries in your smoke detector? It is recommended that the batteries be changed when the time changes, however, many of us do not remember to do so. Better yet, have Advanced install monitored smoke and heat detectors on your alarm system.
 - Is your address marked clearly on your home in order for the fire department to find you more easily? It is recommended that 4" reflective numbers be used to clearly mark your address on the front of your home.
 - Lastly make and prepare an evacuation plan in order to be better prepared.
- Fire safety is a concern for all of us and we hope that these tips are helpful in keeping safety in the front of your mind at all times.
